

THE UNIVERSITY OF SCRANTON
COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES
ENGLISH

About the Program

Our program prepares you with practical skills that translate into real-world strengths. We will prepare you to take the lead as a writer or communicator in any career path you choose. You'll learn to read more skeptically, to write more urgently, to speak more thoughtfully, to think more logically and to express yourself more creatively.

Outcomes & Opportunities

- English majors do very well professionally. Their salaries in the years after graduation rank in the middle of the average by major, and they rise to the upper middle in later years. English majors also report higher future job satisfaction and engagement than most other majors.
- As an English major, you'll develop the analytical and expressive tools you need to thrive in any occupation you pursue. We turn out doctors, lawyers, CEOs, salespeople, performers, scientists and consultants, as well as teachers and writers.
- English majors have received excellent internships, both locally and regionally at organizations such as MTV Networks, Scranton Times-Tribune and Citadel Broadcasting.
- Other students have gone on to pursue graduate studies at leading universities, including Villanova University, Syracuse University and Johns Hopkins University.

<sup>1</sup>The selection of a First Year Seminar is likely to fulfill requirements both for the First Year Seminar and a General Education Requirement or it may serve as a student's gateway course (equivalent to ENLT 140). Thus, the First Year Seminar will not add to the total credits for the semester. Please consult with an advisor if you have questions.

*The English & Theatre Department recommends WRTG 140, a 3-credit EP foundation course satisfying both oral and digital competencies (EP-1). Other courses may satisfy this requirement. Please consult with an advisor if you have questions.
