MIDDLE LEVEL TEACHER EDUCATION

About the Program

Middle level teacher education is a major in which students learn to teach grades four through eight in specific subject areas. Concentrations are: English/language arts and reading, mathematics, science and social studies

Outcomes & Opportunities

- Students have field experiences in middle school classrooms in their first three years, even before their extensive student teaching in senior year. They interact productively with young adolescents and teach as part of their training.
- Education graduates are prepared to teach, not only in traditional classroom settings, but also in other settings. Graduates have pursued jobs in cyber schools, in prison education programs and on military bases.
- You'll find Scranton graduates working in numerous school districts, as well as other organizations. These include Oyster Bay, New York School District, Quakertown, Pennsylvania School District and Teach for America.
- Many graduates choose to continue their education in master's degree programs and have been accepted to leading universities.
 These include The University of Scranton, The Pennsylvania State University, Marywood University and Montclair State University.
