Thank you for your interest in The University of Scranton, and welcome to Open House!

This is my second tenure as president of the University, and I am grateful to have returned to graced ground. For many of you, this is the first time you have visited our campus, and others may have spent time here or have a friend or family member who attended Scranton. Whatever the case, it is my hope that you will spend time exploring campus today and experiencing the vibrant student life that makes our University so special.

It is our tight-knit community and the consistent recognition we have received through national “best colleges” and “best value” rankings from U.S. News & World Report and others that help define us as a first-rate University. In addition, the recent recognition the University received for our commitment to teaching acknowledges the significant work done by our faculty and staff. As a Catholic and Jesuit university grounded in the liberal arts tradition, we share in a mission centered on student learning and outcomes, developing high demand skills that help our students succeed in their careers and their lives.

This is a great place to call home. We hope, after your experience today, you will agree. All my best to you and your family during your college search.

Sincerely,

Rev. Scott R. Pilarz, S.J.
President
